Topic: Empowering youth in inclusive and sustainable food systems

Realizing many people use technology often in agriculture,

Noting with deep concern the amount of food insecurity globally,

Alarmed by the fact that around 828 million people and 30 million children don't eat enough every day because they are unable to afford food,

Deeply concerned that some youths around the world do not have a voice in the decision making regarding food systems,

Noting with deep concern the fact that the youth aren't sufficiently educated in food sustainability,

Alarmed by the amount of poverty and famine in our world, and that most people aren't doing anything about it,

Alarmed by the effects that climate change is having on the earth,

Bearing in mind that inequality is still an issue in many ways,
