

A Delegate's Journey for the New MMUN Online Conference

Fellow Ambassadors Conference Booklet
 MMUN sent me a booklet today with information and pictures about every delegate who will be on my committee. Now I can get to know all my fellow ambassadors before the conference starts. They also invited me to ask some questions to a real UN Ambassador.

Working Session
 I went to an online committee session to discuss "Student Mental Health" with other delegates from all over. We learned about how the MMUN procedures work and passed a resolution by consensus. I really enjoyed getting to speak and listen to everyone else, and feel connected. I'm already thinking about the next one on "Inclusivity in the classroom".

Conference Microsite
 My delegation submitted our Country Display PDF to MMUN, who shared it on their online conference website. Now I can learn about all the countries represented at the conference.

Community Meetups
 I joined a community meetup and got to connect with a bunch of students from different places. We played some games and did a scavenger hunt. Afterwards in a smaller group, we talked about our schools, where we are from, and things we like to do. I can't wait to meet some more people at the next meetup.

Icebreakers
 On the first day, we used the Ambassador Booklet in committee to learn more about each other. Then we played some games where we learned where we come from and what we like to do. I'm already starting to make some new friends.

New Negotiation Process & Increased Bureau Members
 During the committee session, MMUN explained some new rules of procedure which focused the negotiation and gave more opportunities for everyone to share their ideas. There were more bureau members and a tech support person to make sure everything ran smoothly. My parents and teachers could all watch the committee sessions on a private Vimeo channel. They said I did very well on my opening speech!

MMUN Cultural Presentation
 After the first weekend of committee sessions we took a break from being a delegate ambassador. I got to share a song I had been working on at the MMUN Cultural Presentation. Other delegates shared cooking demos, a dance, a music performance, or something about their country. It was all hosted by Ephniko, and it was great to see everyone sharing so many different things.

Meet Your Fellow Student Ambassadors
 On another day, all my fellow delegates met in "breakout rooms," to get to know each other in smaller groups. We collected answers to fun questions that were in the Ambassador Booklet. It was nice to relax, connect, and laugh together. It was cool to see how much we have in common, even though we live in different countries.

Closing Ceremony/ Celebration Event
 On the last day after the Closing Ceremony, there was the Celebration Event, virtually hosted by Ephniko and Alexander Star. I sent in a Dance Challenge, along with other delegates. It was great to see everyone do their moves. I also got a personal shoutout from Alexander Star, while we all chatted with him after his performance.

Home Again
 I had a great time and made friends with people from all over the world. It felt really good to connect with other students who are going through the same thing, only in a different place.
